Urban EDC: A Minimalist Gear Overview

Synopsis

Urban EDCA Minimalist Gear Overview by Michael Age Urban needs are different from those in rural areas by the nature of resources and infrastructure. The likelihood of you living closer to work and to your hangouts is higher than in rural living. The EDC (everyday carry) is gear that one carries when they leave the house and venture out into the world. Your EDC is the bridge of resources to help you navigate throughout the day until you arrive back home. Urban dwellers tend to stay streamlined and bulk free. Ease of movement when traveling is an important aspect for this population when navigating through dense environments. Some urban dwellers focus on minimalistic living which obviously influences their EDC. What items do you tend to carry daily? Do you carry items for the sole purpose to minimize weight and size? This eBook helps to outline Urban EDC gear and categories to build a system or kit to make life more productive and satisfying. Hope you enjoy it and best wishes to all!
